ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A two-week truce in civil rights demonstrations was called Tuesday while a biracial committee looks for a way to end St. Augustine's racial problems.

The action puts a temporary end to three weeks of massive demonstrations against segregation that have repeatedly ended in violence.

Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who has spearheaded the integration push, said he is stopping the demonstrations to show good faith.

Auto Talks Get Underway

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers sat down at the bargaining table Tuesday to draw up a new contract and both sides expressed hopes for a peaceful settlement.

GM, largest of the nation's auto producers, was the first of the Big Three to begin bargaining with the UAW negotiators headed by union President Walter P. Reuther.

After Reuther and Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president of personnel, made preliminary, optimistic statements to newsmen the negotiators wasted no time in plunging into the first round of their talks.

Castro Sister Blasts Castro

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Juanita Castro Ruz, a dramatic defector from the Cuban communist regime of her brother, Fidel Castro, went into hiding Tuesday reportedly on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Cuban exile sources said the 31-year-old younger sister of Prime Minister Castro disappeared after Monday night's television appearance in which she denounced Castro for betraying his Cuban revolution.

UN Leaves Boiling Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo lost its United Nations shield and its government Tuesday on the fourth anniversary of independence—four years stained by bloodshed and plagued by rebellion.

President Joseph Kasavubu announced the resignation of Premier Cyrille Adoula and his government three hours after the last 143 U.N. soldiers flew from the Congo.

Congress Extends Excise Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both House and Senate passed and rushed to President Johnson Tuesday legislation extending some excise taxes another year just seven hours before they would have expired at midnight. The revenue loss would have been $1.9 billion.

The House passed the bill on a voice vote soon after it convened at midday and the Senate added its approval on a 75-10 roll-call vote Monday afternoon. Johnson signed the measure, keeping the taxes in effect, a couple of hours later.

300 More Hunt Rights Workers

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Another 300 sailors under White House orders joined the hunt for three missing civil rights workers Tuesday, as the nine-day-old search spread into a second Mississippi county.

As the ranks of sailors swelled to 400, the White House said President Johnson was determined to employ whatever federal manpower might be needed.

Mrs. Michael Schwerner, 22, New York, wife of one of the missing men, made a personal appeal to the President Monday for 5,000 men to help search. She said the President told her he couldn't send that many.

Market Hits All Time High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a late light rally Tuesday and moved up to new all-time highs.

Barry Cops 48 Illinois Votes; Now Boasts Of 690

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater won a 48 to 0 shut-out over Gov. William W. Scranton Tuesday in a poll of the key Illinois delegation to the Republican National Convention.

The triumphant Goldwater called the vote "very significant." He told newsmen he guessed he would have "maybe 690 votes" for the presidential nomination on the first ballot at the party's national convention in San Francisco next month.

But, in response to questions as to whether this put him over the top, the Arizona replied: "I'd like a few more, and then I'd say I'm over the hump."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, chairman of the 58-member Illinois delegation, said the group conducted a poll showing 48 for Goldwater, 8 uncommitted, and 2 who did not participate in the voting.

Dirksen said three of those who did not commit themselves and the two who abstained had leanings toward Goldwater.

The chairman told reporters that those who voted for Goldwater included Dirksen himself, Charles H. Percy, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, and Victor Smith, state GOP chairman.

Scranton said the poll was not a mortal blow to his efforts to block nominations of Goldwater. "The Illinois delegation has been in this condition for a long time," he told newsmen.

Goldwater, in his spectacular sweep, gained 9 over his total of 39 in the most recent AP Illinois poll while the only other presidential nomination possibility in that poll, Richard M. Nixon, dropped off the tally sheet. He had one vote in the AP survey.

Goldwater's show of strength in Illinois added 9 votes to the total of 693 which had been credited to him as pledged or favorable in an AP national survey, against 138 for Gov. Scranton.

Backers of the recreation area had hoped for action this year. Planning of the national park could be done in conjunction with early planning of the dam and reservoir. Morris said Tuesday the cost estimates for the project ranged from $17 million to $37 million.

Lack of any action this year on the Tocks Island proposal will mean that legislation to create the recreation area would have to be introduced again when the new Congress convenes next year.

Gets Husband's Medal

Captured Pilot's Wife Backs U.S. Asian Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—"It is my firm belief the stand the United States has made in Southeast Asia is more than necessary; it is imperative."

Those were the words of Sara C. Klusmann, a Navy wife whose pilot husband is believed to be a prisoner of the Communists.

Lt. Charles F. Klusmann, 30, of San Diego, Calif., was shot down over Laos during a photo reconnaissance mission 24 days ago.

She wrote those words to Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp Jr., commander of the Pacific Fleet, who had sent her a letter pledging that the United States "will make every feasible effort to effect his return."

Mrs. Klusmann's letter, dated June 17, was made available Tuesday after she stood in a Pentagon conference room and accepted the Distinguished Flying Cross for her husband.

She listened as Adm. Claude V. Ricketts, vice chief of naval operations, read a citation praising Klusmann's "extraordinary heroism and achievement."

There were no tears, and she did not change expression, although it seemed her eyes reddened a bit.

Then, in a calm and unemotional tone, Mrs. Klusmann stepped to the microphones and said, simply: "I accept this Distinguished Flying Cross on behalf of my husband with a great deal of pride."

"My only regret is that he could not be here at this moment to accept it himself."

This same even-keeled quality showed through in the letter she wrote to Sharp.

About the only mention of her inner feelings was an acknowledgment of "a terrible shock" on receiving the news that her husband had been shot down.

But, she added, the information she had received on what had happened—and the reasons for Klusmann's missions—"has helped me view the situation with clarity."

"As a citizen, I have long been interested in the struggle against communism in Southeast Asia and elsewhere in the world," she told Sharp.

"My concern is even more acute in light of personal involvement."

Facing God, "and knowledge Cinek believes in what he is doing, have given me strength during this very difficult time," she said.

Opposing counsel will present their legal interpretations of the issue. A swift decision is expected.

ICC Hearings On Explosion Set July 23, 24 In Monroe

McDonough: 'I Saw No Explosive Signs'

By GIL MURRAY
Record Reporter

EAST STROUDSBURG—Richard McDonough — one of the two Marshalls Creek firemen who survived last Friday's blast — said yesterday he saw no "Explosives" or "Danger" signs attached to the ill-fated trailer that exploded and killed six.

"I saw no signs. No roadway flares, no reflecting signals and no danger or explosive signs," said McDonough, 40, who was one of the five firemen to reach the trailer fire, before it exploded.

Talking from his bed in the General Hospital of Monroe County, McDonough said he was the fifth fireman to arrive at the scene.

Would have Relieved
He said the other four men fighting the fire "gave no indication they knew the burning trailer was carrying explosives."

Ike To Tap Favorite, Lodge Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge strongly indicated after a 45-minute conference with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday that he expects the former president to speak out on the GOP presidential nomination before the party convention opens.

Lodge told a news conference on the steps of a wing of Walter Reed Hospital that he thinks what Eisenhower has to say will have an influence on the Republican convention.

The former ambassador to South Viet Nam said Eisenhower plans to go to San Francisco for the convention on July 12 and may make his views known before then on his preference for the nomination.

Asked whether he had asked Eisenhower to endorse the candidacy of Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, Lodge replied that reporters would have to speculate on that point.

Lodge quit his Saigon post to return to help Scranton in his efforts to prevent Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona from winning the nomination.

Questioned about their political discussion, Lodge said: "I can't give any details but events will show his attitude. We are going to have to let time disclose his position."

Asked whether a July 12 statement would be soon enough to influence the convention's choice of a nominee, Lodge replied:

"He always has influence in a Republican convention."

Blatt Lead Trimmed To 460

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Governor Blatt's lead over Justice Michael Musmanno was trimmed to 460 Tuesday on the eve of a state supreme court's hearing here that will decide their contest for the Democratic nomination as U.S. Senator.

Miss Blatt's margin was shaved when Musmanno picked up a net of 176 votes in Scranton when absentee ballots from Lackawanna County were tabulated.

Musmanno received 195 votes, Miss Blatt 19, and 316 challenged ballots were thrown out as invalid by the county election board.

Musmanno, backed by the Democratic state organization for the nomination, had brought the appeal to the state Supreme Court.

In contention before the six justices—Musmanno is on leave from the bench until the outcome is decided—are some 6,000 votes cast in Philadelphia on the wrong line on voting machines.

Opposing counsel will present their legal interpretations of the issue. A swift decision is expected.

If firemen knew the truck might explode "we would not have gone up to the trailer. Our responsibility is not to the tractor-trailer, but to the people around it."

"If we knew the trailer might explode we would have called state police, immediately blocked off the area and tried to evacuate the area," McDonough told The Daily Record.

One of the major unanswered questions concerning the mysterious blast is whether the trailer was properly marked as carrying explosives.

According to Interstate Commerce Commission regulations, trucks carrying explosives must be marked on both sides and the rear with signs indicating the nature of the cargo.

Early Saturday morning The Daily Record found two signs marked "Explosives" under the seat in the cab that hauled the trailer. The cab was parked in a Texaco service station at Franklin Hill Rd. and N. Courtland St. in East Stroudsburg.

American Cyanamid Co. said it is not unusual to carry extra signs in the cab.

The assistant Marshalls Creek fire chief was also interviewed yesterday by Stanley Komoshinsky, investigating state police fire marshal from Hazleton.

McDonough, in satisfactory condition with his right leg and left arm in a cast, said "I received the fire call within a few minutes of 4 a.m."

He said it took firemen approximately "eight minutes" to reach the trailer. It exploded at 4:10 a.m.

He said the caller said a trailer was on fire somewhere near Bushkill. "He was vague so I asked him to identify himself," McDonough said.

McDonough said the man identified himself as Joseph J. Horvath, a passing truck driver from Scranton. He also lost his life in the blast.

No Warning
"He told me it was an over-the-road trailer and it was burning and the driver was not around. He did not say the truck had dynamite in it."

"He told me he would back his truck around and would put his truck lights on the burning trailer," McDonough said.

McDonough said he then ran for the firehouse and his wife sounded the alarm. "A couple of fellows were in the firehouse before me. I located the fire on the board and turned on the radio," he said.

Flames Visible
He said he could see the red glow of fire through a heavy fog about a mile from the burning trailer. The fire truck he was driving was the third to reach the scene. "I was about one minute behind the others," he said.

"About one-eighth of the trailer was affected by flames. The flames were directly above the right rear wheels, extending up the side of the trailer and above the trailer," McDonough said.

He said the two trucks parked behind the flaming trailer and he pulled in between.

"The trailer was" an over-the-road trailer with no tractor. It was aluminum and about 40 feet long," he said.

"I rushed to the rear of truck No. 1 to help Robert Heid connect a phone line. That's when it blew," he said.

McDonough said, "The trailer blew about 30 seconds after I got there."

He said there was only one transmission over the fire company's radio on the way to the fire.

"Upon leaving Marshalls Creek firehouse, I, who had received the fire call, radioed truck No. 5 to tell him the approximate location. He knew it was a trailer but the location was vague," McDonough said.

The possibility has been raised that a radio transmission might have set off electric blasting caps in the trailer.

"That was the only time any transmission was made. No one else could have used the radio without my knowledge because any transmission could have been heard in all three trucks," he said.

McDonough said the company's radio is set on a frequency of 33.98 megacycles—standard frequency for all fire companies in Monroe County and monitored by the Federal Communications Commission.

Decision On M. Smithfield Up In Air

EAST STROUDSBURG—Officials from the East Stroudsburg Joint School District met last night and decided to hold off any decision on the Middle Smithfield Elementary School pending a complete investigation of damage by architects.

The joint school committee and building authority authorized Everett Associates of Allentown to make a detailed inspection before the committee decides whether to tear the school down and rebuild or repair the damage.

The school was extensively damaged by last Friday's truck explosion along Rt. 209, near the school. The school is insured for $250,000.

In a short statement after an hour and one-half meeting in the junior-senior high school, Alex Bensing, committee solicitor, said:

"The school board authorized Everett Associates to prepare specifications for inspection and necessary shoring for the protection of the Middle Smithfield School building."

The inspection will be carried out to determine the cost of repairing the school before any decision is made.

The shoring will be necessary to permit architects to inspect the building safely.

Typhoon Paralyzes Manila

MANILA (AP)—Battered by the worst typhoon in decades, Manila lay paralyzed Tuesday night with at least 10 reported dead, scores injured and hundreds homeless. Police estimated damage at $5 million.

The city of two million was without lights except for a small downtown area. There was no water. Streets were choked by fallen trees, power and telephone poles and debris.

All relief agencies were mobilized for action.

Typhoon Winnie roared in Monday night with 60-mile winds and rose in fury with 90-mile gusts early Tuesday. It had been expected to pass north of the capital, as typhoons usually do. Instead it veered south and the eye of the storm passed directly over Manila.

Communications were out with the provincial area of central Luzon, and the full extent of casualties and damage could not be learned.

However, the big U.S. Clark Air Force Base 50 miles north-west of Manila said the main storm passed south of there and 50-mile fringe winds did little damage.

All the dead reported so far perished in the flooded waters of Manila, in swollen rivers nearby, and in Manila Bay. Scores were injured by flying debris and collapsing homes, mostly shanties.

A Swedish freighter, Nordvind, of the States Marine Lines and the Panamanian ship Juno were blown from their moorings and grounded in shallow waters off famed Dewey Boulevard.

Rooney thanked the ICC for its effort to expedite full public disclosure of evidence on events surrounding the disaster.

"From the very beginning, the commission and its field personnel have given every indication that they intend to conduct a thorough and completely fair investigation of this tragedy," Rooney said.

Frank W. Doyle, acting director of the Philadelphia ICC office, who was still in Stroudsburg yesterday, said:

"Our field investigation will be completed by the end of this week. I will submit a full written report to the ICC Bureau of Motor Carriers by the end of next week."

"I am also grateful for the fact that this hearing will be conducted in Monroe County, since this should give a greater number of witnesses who are directly concerned an opportunity to attend and testify," Rooney continued.

The Congressman thanked President Judge Fred W. Davis of the Monroe County Court and the county commissioners for cooperation in providing space for the hearing.

Rooney's announcement of the hearing date came after he delivered a plea to the U.S. House of Representatives for a thorough review of laws governing the shipment of explosives on public highways.

In his remarks to the House, Rooney said:

"I want to make it perfectly clear that I am not embarking on any irresponsible tirade against the responsible shippers who use America's public highways. Nothing could be further from my mind."

"The shipment of explosives is an economic factor which has become an absolute necessity in our nation. Two years ago, there were 632 million pounds of explosives handled by truck on public highways."

"We can however insist that the shipment of any explosive be carried out with the absolute maximum amount of security and the greatest possible safety precaution."

Asks Congressional Review
"I urgently suggest that this body undertake a thorough review of existing laws governing the shipment of explosives on public highways."

"There should be room in such a study for a review of the relationships between the laws of the several states and the federal regulations covering explosives shipment."

"In Pennsylvania, for example, the Public Utilities Commission has no regulatory power over private carriers transporting explosive commodities, but does maintain some controls over hired carriers used for this purpose."

"The PUC has been invited to sit in on the hearings, and I am personally hopeful that they will do so."

Action Needed
"If those hearings do not produce the recommended action and the evidence which should be forthcoming, I feel that the members of this Congress must join in a unified effort to place upon the law books the kind of regulations which will make a repetition of the Marshall's Creek disaster absolutely impossible."

Auto Insurance Rates--Some Up, Some Down--In Effect Today

HARRISBURG (AP)—Adjustments in automobile insurance premiums, some higher, reflecting what the rating bureaus call "a marked rise in the number of automobile accidents in Pennsylvania," go into effect Wednesday.

Some premiums will be adjusted downward, based upon superior accident experience. On the other hand, an average statewide increase of 10 per cent will be imposed for private passenger car insured under

State News Roundup

More Troopers On Highways

HARRISBURG (AP)—E. Wilson Purdy, state police commissioner, announced Monday that 100 additional state policemen will patrol Pennsylvania highways during the July 4 holiday weekend.

"The additional men will be made available by closing all driver license examination points throughout the Commonwealth from July 3 through July 5," Purdy said.

Last year, 46 persons lost their lives in Pennsylvania during the July 4 holiday period.

Seranton Bombed With Telegrams

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton has been receiving an average of 1,500 telegrams an hour since his nationwide television appearance Sunday night, an assistant to the governor said Monday.

William Kiesling said Western Union told him that as of noon Monday it has been processing the wires at the rate of 1,500 an hour since the governor finished his TV speech at 10 p.m. Sunday.

The Western Union office here can handle 275 incoming telegrams an hour, and because of the steady flow, Kiesling said, many of the telegrams are being re-routed via Philadelphia, Allentown, Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton and Pittston.

Kiesling said the messages are about 50 to 1 in favor of the governor in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination. He said they have come from at least 39 states.

Sunny California Cool To Seranton

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California's 88 delegates to the Republican National Convention pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater and avowedly intend to stay that way despite pleas by Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, a member of the delegation, termed "completely futile" any attempt to "try to steal delegates" from the Arizona.

Jordan said apparently Seranton thinks he is the only candidate who can beat President Johnson in November. "In my opinion," the veteran state officer said, "Goldwater is the only Republican who can beat the President."

Blatt Pushes Home Rule

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania's secretary of internal affairs urged Tuesday the formation of a constitutional convention as the only effective means of bringing home rule to the Commonwealth of the state.

Miss Genevieve Blatt told delegates at the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs annual meeting that the amendment system is ineffective in securing changes in the state constitution.

"Miss Blatt said home rule is necessary to avoid a too strong centralized government."

"Each community has its own needs, each community must experiment for the good of the country; each community must ease the apathy that will lead to centralized government," she asserted.

Doctors Implant Artificial Lung

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Successful implanting of an artificial lung—latest development in the hunt for mechanical devices that will serve until grafting of live organs is perfected—was reported Wednesday by a research team at the American Medical Association convention.

Dr. Bruce R. Bodell of Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital described an artificial lung implanted in seven sheep and three dogs. One of the sheep survived without ill effects. The other animals died.

City of Fear

'White Nigger' Jeered In Augustine Rights Fight

This is the first of a series of three articles on St. Augustine, a city ruled by fear. The series is written by Jonathan Brown, a junior at Yale. He is the son of Eugene Brown, who writes "About Town" for the Daily Record. The elder Brown is senior vice president of Ottawa newspapers.

Young Brown has just returned from St. Augustine after three weeks participation in the integration movement. His assignment was to set up a tutorial school for Negro students and to lay the groundwork for a daily news sheet covering movements of the Southern Christian Leadership.

By JONATHAN BROWN

For a "white," working in civil rights in the South is a strange mixture of love and fear.

As soon as the white integrationist demonstrates his involvement in the freedom movement, he is adopted by the Negro community.

Because I was beaten up by Klansmen and local police twice during the first two days of my stay in St. Augustine, all doors in the Negro community were immediately open for the boy who had come down from the North to help.

At the same time, the segregationists put the white integrationist in a special category of hatred for in their eyes he is a "traitor to the white race."

Outside Agitator

To the segregationists I was "an outside agitator," a "white nigger," and quite obviously a sexual pervert.

To the average northern white who seems naturally to stay within the environment of his own race and to whom the Negro community remains much of an enigma, his stay in the South is a juxtaposition.

Suddenly, in the South, the Negro community becomes his physical and spiritual home not only because he is involved in the freedom struggle, but because the white community becomes alien and dangerous.

One Home Open

During my entire three week stay in St. Augustine, I visited only one white home, that of a divorcee with six children ranging in age from 3 to 24—Mrs. Margaret Ann Muhl.

The only local white resident who dared to demonstrate with us, because of her basic belief in equality, Mrs. Muhl has been almost totally ostracized by white in St. Augustine.

She received as many as 25 threatening phone calls a day, found a wire tap on her phone. After she and one of her sons marched with Negroes in a non-violent demonstration a gang of kids outside her home just waited for any of her children to appear.

Mrs. Muhl believes that virtually all the white people of St. Augustine are for segregation (the Mayor proudly admits he is one) and attributes this to "generations of hatred, misunderstanding, and a basic belief in their own supremacy."

"They have," she says, "an abysmal disregard for equality."

Mostly ministers, these people of faith have shown uncommon bravery in the face of constant physical assault.

Sarah Patton Boyle of Virginia, author of "The Desegregated Heart" and other books movement in her native state and movement needs help.

The younger white integrationists come to the South for generally different reasons. Most of them do not seem to have the firm religious commitment, rather basing their involvement on natural not sup-

Gallup Says GOP Likes Seranton

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The latest Gallup poll shows Republican rank-and-file voters across the country favor Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton by a 21 per cent margin over Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the GOP presidential nomination.

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, said the nationwide survey was taken immediately after Seranton declared his candidacy.

The survey showed Seranton favored by 55 per cent of Republicans sampled, Goldwater by 34 per cent, while 11 per cent were undecided.

Among "independent" voters, Seranton was the choice of 62 per cent of those polled, Goldwater drew 24 per cent, and 14 per cent said they were undecided.

some down—were announced for this state by the two rating bureaus on behalf of their affiliated companies. The rating agencies are the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

The changes will not affect existing policies but will apply to them when renewed.

The announcement said: "The recent changes in premiums are being made for the purpose of adjusting the premiums in each of the state's 40 rating territories in accordance with the losses incurred by the companies on behalf of their insured motorists in each territory.

In territories where the losses caused by insured motorists have declined, the premiums are being reduced. In those territories where losses have risen, premiums are being increased.

"Behind the increases in insurance premiums for private passenger cars," said the bureaus, "is marked rise in the number of automobile accidents in Pennsylvania, and in the number of persons killed or injured in these mishaps.

"The number of accidents in Pennsylvania increased 11 per cent from 56,559 in 1961 to 174,527 in 1963. The number of persons killed in these accidents increased 23 per cent from 1,486 to 1,830; those injured went up 17 per cent from 73,997 to 86,892."

Liability Revisions

"The liability insurance premium revisions will result in substantial increases on the average in areas where liability losses incurred by insured motorists have been especially large."

"In the Philadelphia area, for example, there are substantial increases in liability premiums for private passenger cases. Behind these premium increases is a rising trend in automobile accidents."

"In areas where losses incurred by insured motorists have gone down, premium reductions are being put into effect.

"Discounts—such as the 30 per cent farmers reduction, 15 per cent safe driver discount, 10 per cent compact car discount, and the reductions for two or more cars—will continue in effect."

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters imposed the 10 per cent increase on "family" and "basic" policies. It cited "severe underwriting losses on insured private cars."

Economy Package

For the special automobile policy—an economy "package" form of insurance—NBCU said there would be no change in the over-all statewide premium.

Improved claims experience, NBCU said, enables it to report a reduction of 5.1 per cent for commercial cars and a reduction of one-tenth of one per cent for garages buying the broad liability coverage.

Liability insurance protects a motorist against bodily injury and property damage that he may cause to others and is bought to comply with the requirements of the Pennsylvania Financial Responsibility Law.

This is the first increase in automobile liability insurance rates for private passenger cars in Pennsylvania since July 1, 1961, when rates were increased an average of 6.4 per cent.

The NBCU explained that during the three years 1960, 1961 and 1962 its affiliated companies suffered underwriting losses of $9.9 million on automobile liability insurance in Pennsylvania. While complete figures for 1963 are not yet available, early indications show continued underwriting losses.

The National Automobile Underwriters Association announced changes in premiums—up and down—for automobile physical damage insurance for private passenger cars and commercial automobiles. This type of insurance reimburses the car owner for damage to his own automobile.

The NAUA premium changes for private passenger car vary by territory within the state. On the average, they will result in a reduction of 1.9 per cent for comprehensive coverage, and an increase of 4.9 per cent for $50 deductible collision insurance, NAUA said.

Comprehensive coverage affords the car owner insurance against loss or damage to his own automobile from fire, theft, windstorm, hail, glass breakage, flood, and additional perils.

Here are a few random examples of the new rates:

Philadelphia—(1) liability up $14; (2) comprehensive coverage up $2.71; (3) $50 deductible collision, up $17.95.

Philadelphia semi-suburban—(1) up $14; (2) up $1 cents; (3) up $13.20.

Pittsburgh—(1) down $2; (2) no change; (3) down $1.65.

Pittsburgh suburban—(1) up $1; (2) down 86 cents; (3) up $4.30.

Bucks County—(1) up $10; (2) down 75 cents; (3) down $6.07.

Seranton—Carbuncle—(1) down $3; (2) no change; (3) up $3.27.

Wilkes-Barre and Pittston—(1) up $3; (2) no change; (3) up $3.27.

Jersey Republicans Stay Uncommitted

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—New Jersey delegates to the Republican National Convention spent an hour with Sen. Barry Goldwater Monday night, then decided to go to San Francisco officially uncommitted in the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Goldwater's supporters said they were pleased by the delegation's decision, which was not to take a vote on a commitment.

New Jersey Sen. Clifford P. Case, a delegate who backs Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton for the nomination, said he was sorry a majority of the 40 delegates were not in favor of taking a poll. He said he thought a majority of them favor Scranton.

But Judy Fernald, co-chairman of the New Jersey Goldwater Committee, said the senator's forces were pleased by the decision because they think it is the way to preserve party unity.

Goldwater, who flew here from Washington to talk with the delegation, was heckled by civil rights demonstrators, who marched and shouted outside the Trenton hotel where the delegates met.

A short time after he arrived here Goldwater spurned as "ridiculous" Scranton's challenge to debate Tuesday before the Illinois Republican delegates.

"Why should I stand in front of a delegation that I already have and argue with another Republican?" asked Goldwater, Scranton, advised in Knoxville, Tenn., of the senator's reply, said.

"I am sorry he thinks meeting face to face to discuss the issues of the day is ridiculous. This is as poor a way to beat President Johnson as can be."

Keystone Senators Favor Office Allowance Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania's senators favor a proposal by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to increase allowances for office expenses.

Sens. Joseph S. Clark, Democrat, and Hugh Scott, Republican, along with senators from other populous states, contend that the present formula, although based on population, favors the small states and discriminates against senators from such states as Pennsylvania, New York and Illinois.

Clark recently told the Senate there just isn't enough money for telephone calls, office help trips back home to meet with constituents and the cost of stationery and other office expenses.

He said he spends thousands of dollars of his own money each year to maintain services to constituents.

Between them, Clark and Scott spent about $80,000 in federal funds on their office help in the first three months of this year.

Auto Insurance Rates Go Up

See related story on Page 2

STROUDSBURG — Two insurance rating organizations today announced that automobile insurance rates in Monroe County would go up.

The announcement came from the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

The changes will not affect outstanding policies but will apply to policies when they are renewed.

In Monroe County liability insurance premiums will be up

$3 for policies of $10,000/$20,000 bodily injury. They will also go up $3 for $5,000 property damage liability insurance for private passenger automobiles used for pleasure and for those without a male driver under age 25.

A policy of $10,000/$20,000 bodily injury liability coverage means protection up to $20,000 for all persons injured in an accident subject to a limit of $10,000 for any one person injured.

In addition, $30 deductible collision will be up $4.48. There is no premium change in comprehensive coverage.

Comprehensive coverage affords the owner insurance against loss or damage to his automobile from fire, theft, windstorm, glass breakage, flood and additional perils.

The present changes in premiums are being made for the purpose of adjusting the premiums in each of Pennsylvania's 40 rating territories in accordance with the losses incurred by the companies on behalf of their insured motorists in each territory.

In Monroe County where losses have risen, premiums are being increased. Likewise, where losses caused by insured motorists have declined, the premiums are being reduced.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters (NBCU) noted that this is the first increase in automobile liability insurance rates for private passenger cars in Pennsylvania since July 1, 1961, when rates were increased an average of 6.4 per cent.

The NBCU explained that during the three years 1960, 1961 and 1962 its affiliated companies suffered underwriting losses of $8.9 million on automobile liability insurance in Pennsylvania.

Also, while complete figures for 1963 are not yet available, early indications show continued underwriting losses.

Behind the increases in insurance premiums for private passenger cars is a marked increase in the number of automobile accidents in Pennsylvania and in the number of persons killed or injured in these mishaps.

Finally, the number of accidents in Pennsylvania increased 11 per cent from 156,559 in 1961 to 174,527 in 1962.

The number of persons killed in these accidents increased 23 per cent from 1,486 to 1,830. Those injured went up 17 per cent from 73,997 to 86,892, the NBCU explained.

Marsh Names New County Detective

STROUDSBURG — A 36-year-old former Bangor resident has been appointed new Monroe County Detective, James Marsh, Monroe County district attorney, made the announcement yesterday.

William J. Straub of Heightsville, Md., a retired policeman, was employed on the Washington, D.C. police force. He served with the nation's police department for 13 years.

Straub, a brother-in-law of Marsh, will assume his duties today. His office will be in Room 208 of the Monroe County Courthouse. The county detective will receive $4,500 per year with expenses incurred and approved by the district attorney.

Straub will interview witnesses on county cases, serve papers and subpoenas, make investigations as directed by the district attorney, and will try to coordinate county police activity, Marsh explained.

"The move to hire such a man is consistent with the growth of county work," Monroe County said.

MacIntires, 9 Children Find Home

ECHO LAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Wilson MacIntire and their nine children, whose house and contents were almost totally destroyed by the Friday truck explosion, have found a new home but are facing a number of unusual problems.

MacIntire said that the family's clothes are lying in a heap on the floor of a friends garage. The force of the blast, he said, so thoroughly peppered the clothes with splinters of glass that Mrs. MacIntire has been unable to find a cleaner willing to handle them.

MacIntire said that a Red Cross representative told him the clothes were a total loss and should be burned. MacIntire, unwilling to give up, went with a friend last night and picked up an old wringer type washer. "We're going to try to do them ourselves," he said, "bit by bit." MacIntire, his wife and sons Joseph and Bruce, are staying at Vacation Valley in Echo Lake. The other seven children are spread out among various friends.

He said the family had rented a house nearby and hope to move in by Thursday or Friday. MacIntire reported that utilities had been turned on, and his wife spent yesterday washing and cleaning their new home.

Henning said that by encouraging tourism in the area, general economic growth is stimulated. His company he said, could progress by sharing in this growth.

Schuchard replied that he was gratified to know that the company considers local growth as part of their own corporate growth. He pointed out that every tourist dollar aids the entire Pocono area, and complimented Metropolitan Edison on its far-sighted vision.

State Police, Labor Dept. To Meet On Truck Disaster

HARRISBURG — The State Dept. of Labor and Industry is scheduled to meet today at 1 a. m. with the Chief State Fire Marshal, investigating State Police Fire Marshal Stanley Komoshinsky, and other interested parties in an attempt to decide the cause of last Friday's tragic truck explosion which took six lives.

Joseph R. Ward Sr., investigator for the Division of Mines, Quarries and Explosives in the State Dept. of Labor and Industry, visited the blast site and in the area Monday.

Ward said yesterday that he had investigated evidence reported by The Daily Record from Gerald Case, gas station attendant who saw and talked with Albert Koda, driver of the death truck, shortly before and after the explosion.

"We've verified what Case said," Ward reported yesterday, referring to a Daily Record interview.

Ward also said that Richard McDonough, Marshalls Creek fireman injured in the blast, reported that flames were visible from the burning trailer "at least a mile away."

McDonough saw flames "fifteen feet higher than the trailer, despite the fog," Ward said.

Ward mentioned a story in The Daily Record recently which told of a truck catching fire at Delaware Water Gap from the friction of flat tires. "That's exactly what took place with Koda, it seems to us."

Ward reported that Komoshinsky has taped interviews with major witnesses, and will present them at today's hearing.

One of the largest plywood factories in the world is located in Gabon; the principal customer is the United States.

Chemical Cause Of Blast Remains Major Mystery

STROUDSBURG — Chemical causes of the tragic explosion Friday of a truck carrying 26,000 pounds of nitro-carbo-nitrate, 4,000 pounds of 60 percent gelatin dynamite, and 89 electrical blasting caps are gradually being sorted out by investigators.

The Daily Record has been able to piece together this account from reports of eyewitnesses and investigators, and interviews with explosives experts, but a full explanation may never be made.

Kenneth Davis, director of the Interstate Commerce Commission office in Scranton, said Monday that nitro-carbo-nitrate is made by mixing ammonium nitrate with fuel oil. It is not classified by itself as an explosive by his agency, he said.

Davis said that this compound will burn freely, but usually requires an explosion to set it off. He reported that it is frequently used for construction blasting with a small charge of dynamite as an igniter.

Cyanamid Denies Convoy

STROUDSBURG — The American Cyanamid Co. last night squelched rumors that it had a convoy of dynamite trucks traveling over the same route last Friday when a Cyanamid trailer blew up near Echo Lake and killed six.

A. D. Sweeney, assistant director of public relations for Cyanamid, said, "There was no convoy of our trucks using that same route Friday afternoon or night."

Sweeney, who is in Stroudsburg representing the company, said other explosive companies use the same route. The trailer that exploded was traveling north on Rt. 209.

Donald Myer of Milford Rd. 1, told The Daily Record he passed a truck marked "Explosives" while traveling on Rt. 209, between Bushkill and Milford, Friday between 1:30 and 1:45 a. m.

Sweeney said he checked with Cyanamid's Pottsville office, where the truck began, and found that no dynamite truck was dispatched over the same route to Easterville, N. Y., the destination of trailer that blew two rear tires and exploded.

Dynamite Will Burn

Dynamite, Davis said, is classified as a high explosive by the ICC, but will burn freely in the open. It usually requires the use of blasting caps, made of black powder which is highly explosive, to set it off.

Stephen Matos of Delaware Water Gap, missile engineer for the Reaction Motors Division of Thiokol Chemical Corp., said last night that the dynamite carried in the truck, judging by its name, was composed of 60 percent nitroglycerine and 40 percent filler.

Matos said that the substance was between a liquid and a solid, and that the amount of filler "prevents too much sensitivity."

"The Daily Record talked to T. C. George, head of the Bureau of Explosives of the American Assn. of Railroads. The Washington office of the ICC recommended the bureau, supported by the railroad industry, as a major source of expert knowledge on explosives."

400 Degrees Heat

George said that while both dynamite and nitro-carbo-nitrate are generally not explosive, and will burn freely in the open air, there are some conditions which will cause them to explode.

In addition, he pointed out that blasting caps require only a few hundred degrees of temperature to cause an explosion. He estimated 400 degrees were sufficient.

Colored Flames

George said that reports of eyewitnesses that there were visible flames before the explosion would seem to indicate that the chemical contents of the trailer were already burning when firemen arrived.

John Florio of Pleasantville, N.Y., injured slightly in the explosion, said that colored flames were visible before the blast. Injured fireman Richard McDonough said yesterday that the flames were above the trailer when the explosion took place.

George said that under such conditions of prolonged fire, both dynamite and nitro-carbo-nitrate could explode. He added that dynamite is more likely to do so.

However, he concluded, the presence of blasting caps anywhere near the other two chemicals would make an explosion almost inevitable.

Matos explained that dynamite and nitro-carbo-nitrate, under conditions of great heat and pressure, will explode without the use of caps. He said that the substances produce a great deal of gas, "which must go somewhere as it expands."

He said the action is much like that of modern rifle powder, which requires the pressure of a gun chamber to explode.

Matos concluded that the presence of caps too near the fire, or because electrical blasting caps exploded cannot be ascertained until the method of packing the caps and their location is known, he said.

However, State Police said the caps were at the rear of the trailer as required by ICC regulations. It was this part of the trailer that caught fire, according to firemen.

Explosives Laws

The Marshalls Creek truck explosion disaster Friday should lead to stricter state and federal regulations on the transportation of dangerous explosives.

There are already large volumes of regulations on the state and interstate transportation of explosives, but the disaster Friday has proved a need for tighter regulations.

The American Cyanamid, Monsanto and DuPont chemical companies which sell explosives have all shown immediate interest in this disaster, with their own inspectors on the scene or inquiries to this newspaper for more details of the accident.

They are worried about stricter regulations.

The spirit of the present investigation and any proposed new regulations should not be revenge, but a calm attempt to protect the lives of innocent travelers and residents from similar disasters anywhere in the nation.

Frank W. Doyle, director of the Interstate Commerce Commission investigation, said the public ICC hearing approved yesterday could lead to a revision of ICC regulations.

U. S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney, a member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, has asked for a Congressional investigation "with an eye toward revision of the law to provide greater protection for the public."

Allan Hunsinger, general manager of the American Automobile Association Club of Northeastern Pennsylvania, said, "I hope we don't have to have too many more of these tragedies before steps are taken to prevent this kind of tragedy. It's an awful price to pay for stricter legislation."

What specific recommendations should be made for new regulations?

The Marshalls Creek truck disaster suggests that trucks carrying explosives should have two drivers, instead of one.

Blasting caps which can be set off by heat should be forbidden in explosive loads. The law now allows up to 1,000 caps with up to 5,000 pounds of high explosives.

Explosives trucks should be clearly marked in large letters so that they can be identified by firemen, even in a fog like that of Friday morning.

Escorts should be provided for certain explosives loads.

The laws of Pennsylvania may have to be made stricter also.

It is ironic that The Daily Record found on the tractor cab which left 15 tons of explosives alone Friday a copy of regulations for transportation of explosives through the State of Maine. Among Maine regulations:

1. No more than two tons of dynamite may be carried.
2. No blasting caps may be carried in the vehicle with dynamite or other explosives.
3. The truck must be painted bright red, and bear signs on front, rear and each side bearing the word "Explosives" in letters not less than four inches in height. The lettering shall be white.
4. Explosives in excess of 4,000 pounds transported in the state of Maine must be escorted by State Fire Inspectors.

Similar restrictions are needed in Pennsylvania.

Hospitals For Aged

By Mason Denison

(ED NOTE: On different occasions this column has cited the absurdity — and injustice — of the State operating and maintaining ten state-owned general hospitals at taxpayers expense, while nearly 200 other community hospitals must go it on their own. Secretary of Public Welfare Arlin M. Adams insists the Scranton Administration "is doing something about the situation." We asked him to spell it out. —MD)

By Arlin M. Adams
Secretary of Public Welfare
HARRISBURG — This column recently commented on the operations of the ten State General Hospitals, and Mr. Mason Denison has now graciously given me an opportunity to present the Administration's view on this issue.

Mr. Denison observed that only ten communities benefit from the locations of the ten State-owned general hospitals and that the Administration is doing nothing about this situation.

Far from indicating a "complete capitulation" by a hands-off attitude on the issue of community responsibility in relation to these hospitals, the Scranton Administration has shown a deep concern in this vital area of health services.

For instance, during recent months we have been actively negotiating with the Community Medical Center at Scranton on the possibility of transferring the Scranton State General Hospital, the largest of the State-owned hospitals, to that agency.

I have words for this publicity stunt, but I must suffice them. In the words of that TV soap commercial which features an Armored Knight on horseback, they're stronger than dirt.

About Town

About Town

Where She Belonged

It was at the funeral of a woman who had been thoroughly disliked in the small town and for a good cause. With a sharply barbed tongue and a violent temper, she henpecked her husband, humiliated her children and quarreled with her neighbors. Even the animals on the place had a hunted look. The day was sultry, and as the minister's voice droned on the sky grew darker and darker. Just as the service ended, the storm broke furiously. There was a blinding flash followed by a terrific clap of thunder. In the stunned silence a voice was heard from the back row of the crowded room. "Well, she's GOT there!"

Washington's Lady Birds

Sen. Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) says that spring always reminds him of the senator who, about this time of year, was visited by an enthusiastic lady constituent. As she droned on and on about the glories of Washington in the springtime, he grew restless. Finally, he held up his hand to check the flow, cocked his ear and said: "I thought I heard a quorum call." "I'm sure you did," the lady gushed. "You have such lovely birds here and this is their mating season."

Off The Record:

—By BOB CLARK

Dan Devine is a football coach. He doesn't look or talk like one. But he is. In fact, the slightly built, sharp featured Missouri grid boss has the second best won and loss record among active coaches today.

Dan learned the game at Minnesota and Michigan State. He got his baptism of head coaching fire at Arizona State. He made his mark at Missouri.

For a fellow who supports seven children, two married daughters, a horse and a mother-in-law, Devine has to turn out winning eleven to demand the top pay he gets at the school based at Columbia, Mo.

We liked Devine's thinking at Marty Baldwin's final clinic at East Stroudsburg State College. Dan liked Baldwin and the Pottsville, Pa., Together they pictured a beautiful week for press agents of the mountains.

Devine extolled the beauty of the area as the best in the United States, and Baldwin termed the Missouri mentor first only unless you are talking of Bud Wilkinson, the fabled Oklahoma victory maker.

A Thinking Coach

Devine scoffed at the so-called purity of the Ivy League. "They give away $20,000 academic scholarships. What's the difference," he asked.

He doesn't see football any better in any one section of the United States. "Teams in the Southwest are just as good as those in the Big Ten, Penn State and Syracuse, Army, Navy and Pittsburgh (East eleven) can give teams in the rest of the country a tussle any day."

Devine is worried about professional sports invading the campuses for chatters in baseball and football. He feels it is getting out of hand.

"No longer are they just waiting for the college graduate. Now they are waving big bundles of cash before lower classmen."

Devine lost Charlie James, the St. Louis Cardinals outfielder to the pros. While he didn't push Charlie into the play-farm ranks, he indicated that the dough lured before James' eyes was enough to give the lad a fair start in life.

Draft Ike?

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — A spectacular plan is in full swing to literally "draft" former President Dwight Eisenhower to become an active candidate again in a last hour desperate move to block the nomination of Senator Barry Goldwater.

Recourse to this sensational strategy is said to have the vigorous backing of Governors Scranton and Lodge, who abruptly gave up his ambassadorship to South Viet Nam to rush back to the U.S. to join in the vehement "stop-Goldwater" drive.

Also reported fully supporting this extraordinary scheme are a number of other top Republican leaders; among them, former Vice President Nixon, the 1960 standard bearer, former Governor Thomas Dewey, twice the party's presidential nominee, Herbert Brownell, Attorney General in the Eisenhower Cabinet and his campaign manager, Fred Scribner, former Treasury official and national committee executive; Leonard Hall, one-time national committee chairman, and John McCloy, of the Chase National Bank and Rockefeller "lieutenant" and member of the special committee investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

Dear Abby

He Ain't Happy

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My very lovely sister-in-law is an art student, and she has just entered her broad brush syndrome. Her oils resemble an explosion in a paint factory. She is now doing a portrait of my wife, and we both agree that it is an atrocity. When it is finished, must I hang it in the living room and suffer an aesthetic jolt every time I set eyes on it? Or should I risk a family donnybrook and send it to the attic, where it clearly belongs?

I have stated on a number of occasions that we encourage and welcome community agencies in other regions where State General Hospitals are located to concern themselves with the assumption of local responsibility for general hospital operations.

When the Justice Department informed us that further legislation would be required in view of legislative enactments since the initial authorization to transfer the hospitals, we began the preparation of such legislation for introduction in the 1965 General Assembly.

Recently enacted Legislation authorizes use of the general hospitals as geriatric centers for aged patients now in mental hospitals who no longer need intensive psychiatric care. The legislation was initiated by the Department of Public Welfare and sponsored by the Scranton Administration.

We are now exploring conversion of some of these facilities for geriatric care, where they will be available to citizens from all over the state.

Meantime, there have been important new programs developed and adopted for the benefit of all community hospitals which are now reimbursed by the State on a modern purchase of care system for treatment of the medically indigent. And State General Hospitals are included in this program.

Another major point often overlooked is that collections by the Revenue Department agents at our State General Hospitals, for services rendered, repays nearly half of the appropriations to the General Fund.

During the last fiscal year (1962-63) these collections totaled $5,018,932, an increase of $989,378 over the last full year before the Scranton Administration took office.

In conjunction with our purchase of hospital care program for persons under 65 who cannot pay their hospital bills, major improvements in screening these applicants have been put into effect. As a result of this legislation, persons seeking "free" service at a State General Hospital are subjected to the same qualifying procedures as applicants at any other general hospital. They are interviewed by qualified staff members so that only the deserving receive these benefits. There is no doubt that, prior to the inception of the purchase of hospital care legislation, many persons were receiving care at State hospitals who were not medically indigent. The new legislation has eliminated this abuse.

Until March 1 of this year the many fine sectarian hospitals of Pennsylvania were excluded from the State hospital financial program, for persons under 65. The purchase of care system, one of the fairest methods of financing that could be devised, became effective on March 1, and included all hospitals on an equal basis. This further negates the argument that some hospitals and communities are discriminated against in our State-local cooperative program.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who worries himself half-sick over what to buy his mother for Mother's Day, and then turns around and says to his wife, "Don't buy me anything for Father's Day because I am not buying you anything for Mother's Day?"

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I give a party, our invitations are "RSVP," which everyone knows requires an answer. We have about six or seven couples with whom we are quite friendly. Some of them assume that just because we are so close they need not respond. We are just supposed to "know" that they will be there. Abby, I am so tired of having to call up half a dozen invited guests the night of my party to find out whether they are coming or not. We had the same problem when our daughter was married last summer. About a dozen of our relatives felt so "close" that they didn't think it was necessary to let us know that they were coming. Please state in your column the legitimate reasons one may use for ignoring an "RSVP."

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, when our teenage son was unable to find a summer job, we let him paint our house rather than contracting the job to regular painters. We made arrangements with a neighborhood paint store not only to supply the materials but also to provide him with instructions and periodic inspections and corrections. The results were amazing! In addition to spending a useful summer, our son earned money, and his paint job was first-class. So this is our suggestion for keeping a teenager busy and happy during summer vacation.

Paul Scott

Aim of the group militantly pushing this plan is to announce it before the opening of the convention in San Francisco on July 13.

It's possible that this unprecedented announcement may be made by Lodge when he addresses the National Press Club in Washington this week.

Insiders are claiming that the "draft Eisenhower" strategy has his tacit approval; that it has been discussed with him and he has indicated he is apparently willing to "go along and give it a try."

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president, one of his closest political advisers, and militantly against Goldwater, reportedly is very active in this backstage maneuver. Milton is said to be urgently stressing on his brother the "absolute necessity" of his agreeing to permit his name to be tossed into the turbulent presidential contest to block Goldwater's nomination.

In the behind-the-scenes appeals to Eisenhower, a legal opinion has been submitted to him to the effect that he is eligible to again run for the presidency despite the 22nd amendment which limits presidents to two terms. According to this opinion, the amendment does not bar his again seeking the White House as a full presidential term has intervened since his two incumbencies.

(Section 1 of Article XXII limiting presidential terms of office is as follows: No person shall be elected to the office of the President more than twice, and no person who has held the office of President, or acted as President for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected President shall be elected to the office of President more than once. But this Article shall not apply to any President when this Article was proposed by the Congress, and shall not prevent any person who may be holding the office of President, or acting as President, during the term within which this Article becomes operative from holding the office of President or acting as President during the remainder of such term.)

(The above Article was proposed and went into effect when ratified by the 36th state, Nevada, during the term of former President Truman.)

One of the country's largest public relations firms, with offices in Washington and New York, has been retained to handle the contemplated boom for the "draft Eisenhower" plan. It is understood that several hundred thousand dollars have been deposited to the firm's account for this purpose.

The decision to resort to General Eisenhower was reached, it is authoritatively understood, after a detailed report revealed that Governor Scranton's furious campaigning "was not catching fire." It was determined that the Pennsylvania seemingly lacked the spark that was necessary to coalesce sufficient party forces and public sentiment to halt Goldwater's apparent steady sweep toward the nomination.

Opinion among the stop-Goldwater strategists was unanimous that only Eisenhower could prevent the Arizona from winning the prize by the second ballot.

This view was conveyed directly to Lodge in Saigon in a long distance conversation. He immediately expressed his willingness to quit as ambassador and return to Washington to lend his influence to induce Eisenhower to join the stop Goldwater strategy by drafting him. Lodge played a leading role in 1952 in persuading the then five-star commander of NATO to enter the lists against the late Senator Robert Taft.

Stories Behind Words

Atlas

The Titans, according to Greek mythology, were a race of gods. After a 10-year war with Zeus and his forces, the Titans were overthrown. One of the Titans was named Atlas. Zeus decreed that Atlas' punishment was to stand on a chain of mountains in northwestern Africa and support the heavens on his shoulders. Mercator, the noted 16th century Flemish geographer, was familiar with this myth. In 1578 he published a book of maps, and on the title page he used a drawing of Atlas supporting the heavens. The picture was used on the title pages of covers of other books of maps. Eventually any book of maps was called an "atlas."

First Graders' Reading Improved Via Initial Teaching Alphabet

Daily Record Reporter By JEFF COX BETHLEHEM — Why can't Johnny read? Perhaps because he's not being taught the initial teaching alphabet.

The ITA is a recent innovation in teaching devised by Sir James Pitman in England. Through its use, near-unbelievable results with first graders have been obtained.

Foremost in ITA studies in this section of the country is Dr. Albert Mazurkiewicz of Lehigh University's Reading and Study Clinic.

Dr. Mazurkiewicz and cohorts received permission from the Bethlehem School District to use ITA in some test groups. The results?

"It is anticipated that 75 per cent of the ITA youngsters in the first grade will have made the transition to third-grade reading material by the end of the year.

"In the classes using traditional orthography, only 50 per cent of the children will be ready for a second-grade reader — a normal, national pattern of accomplishment," reported Dr. Rebecca Stewart, director of elementary education in the Bethlehem schools.

Not in Use In County The ITA is not in use in Monroe County, but great interest has been shown in it. John Mills, supervising principal of the Pleasant Valley Jointure, said, "The results are amazing. I will make sure to conduct a personal investigation into the initial teaching alphabet."

Fledgling teachers at East Stroudsburg State College have been exposed to ITA in their reading classes, but that's as far as the system has been able to get in the county.

What is the initial teaching alphabet, and how can it bring children to such unprecedented levels of learning? Basically, it is phonetics.

English, as you probably already know, is a pretty mixed-up language as far as spelling goes. For instance:

How many different sounds are represented by the letters?

Speedy Okay Urged For Food Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's request for nationwide application of the experimental food-stamp program appears to have the greenlight in the Senate this week.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has asked a group to give it speedy approval at an executive session Monday.

If the agricultural committee approves the bill, Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., has said he'll press for early passage, perhaps on Tuesday.

The President has backed the food-stamp plan as one of the several fronts in his "war on poverty."

Under the plan, low-income families including some now receiving public assistance, can obtain the special stamps. They can be exchanged for approved items of food at local retail stores. The merchant then converts the stamps into cash at banks.

"ou"? Think of rOUGH, bOUGH, dOUGH, thOUGH, thOUGH... you get the idea.

"Think of the words 'thin' and 'then.' The 'th' sound is different in each, yet they are spelled the same.

The language is full of such spelling horrors. To a child in the first grade, the confusion can be overwhelming.

Sir James Pitman decided that these children should be taught an alphabet that contains a character for each sound in the language.

Early reading books could then be written in his orthography — ITA people call it transliteration — and the children could avoid the confusion.

As ITA is taught in the Bethlehem schools, the traditional alphabet is taught after the first three months or so, so that the child learns to recognize sounds in ITA, and then changes to books written in the normal alphabet.

Confusion stays at a minimum — the teachers found that the children did not confuse the two alphabet systems. Best of all, almost everyone was reading like champions.

In a report to the College Reading Assn. on March 20, Dr. Mazurkiewicz gave these results:

Recognizes Words "Once a child has learned the 44 sound-symbols of ITA, he was able to recognize words written in the ITA alphabet well through the second reader of the third grade.

"When he has learned 37 sound-symbols, he was able to score as high as the first reader of the third grade. Fifty-seven per cent of the ITA children scored at the first reader, third grade level or above; nine per cent scored at the fourth grade level.

"Of the youngsters in traditional alphabet classes, only four per cent scored at the first reader, third grade level, and none scored higher.

"Only nine per cent of the ITA children scored no higher than pre-primer, in contrast to 36 per cent of the traditional population," Dr. Mazurkiewicz reported.

Remembering that these results were from children who had simply learned the ITA alphabet — which might take only a few months of the first grade, the results are remarkable indeed.

Spelling seems to be greatly improved in the new medium. "These youngsters," Dr. Stewart explained, "can already spell—in traditional symbols (not ITA) — at least 40 per cent of the words in a spelling program through fourth grade."

These are first-graders! To further test spelling, a teacher in the Bethlehem district took 101 second-grade words that are spelled the same in both the ITA and traditional alphabets. She gave them to her first graders who had never had spelling instruction, and were not allowed special study of the words.

Group results showed 86 per cent accuracy. Thus, ITA makes normal second-grade spelling meaningless. By the time the kids get to second grade, they are reading third and fourth grade books and have been spelling second grade words for a year.

Many people sophisticated in such tests might immediately cast a sceptical eye and ask whether proper controls were used.

The answer is yes. In Bethlehem, where the regirls and boys learn to read with ita

ITA SENTENCE—This sentence, "Girls and boys learn to read with i/t/a," shows how the system uses the phonetic sounds of the English language to develop reading skills at an amazing rate.

Not Exceptional Homes sults in this story were tabulated, most of the children were not from exceptional homes — most were from families of Negro or Puerto Rican heritage.

This means that ordinarily, the first-grader has not had a college English professor for a father, and is not ordinarily subjected to precise pronunciation in the home.

Still, the sophisticated might ask, "Are the ITA children's IQ's higher?"

No. The average language IQ for all-alphabet group was 100.28 — the 454 members of the ITA Group was 98.09; the average language IQ of the 874 traditional-slightly higher.

Teachers used were the normal teachers in the school system. It seems that the results must have been due to the ITA itself.

To prove a point, the ITA people took groups of deprived or low economic level children in the first grade. After ITA instruction, one group had 47 per cent of its pupils reading second grade material; the traditional group had no one reading that high.

Another highlight of ITA training, according to Dr. Mazurkiewicz, is that the ability to write (as shown in creative compositions) rises as rapidly as the reading achievement rate.

Dr. Mazurkiewicz stresses the point that ITA is not meant to supplant the traditional alphabet, but only supplement it for perhaps the first year or two.

Poor Spellers Through this supplemental teaching, a problem of growing national concern may be greatly alleviated.

Speedy Okay Urged For Food Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's request for nationwide application of the experimental food-stamp program appears to have the greenlight in the Senate this week.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has asked a group to give it speedy approval at an executive session Monday.

If the agricultural committee approves the bill, Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., has said he'll press for early passage, perhaps on Tuesday.

The President has backed the food-stamp plan as one of the several fronts in his "war on poverty."

Under the plan, low-income families including some now receiving public assistance, can obtain the special stamps. They can be exchanged for approved items of food at local retail stores. The merchant then converts the stamps into cash at banks.

John Swartley Receives Degree

BOSTON — John Stewart Swartley of Stroudsburg received his Master in Business Administration degree with high distinction from the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. The graduation exercises took place recently.

Those students who graduate with high distinction from the Harvard Business School represent approximately the top 3 per cent of the graduating class of 623 men and women.

Swartley is a 1960 graduate of Lehigh University.

PEN ARGYL — Pen Argyl School Board, in its final meeting Monday night before going out of existence in the reorganization of school districts in Northampton County, approved 169 tax exonerations.

All were exonerated from the district's two $5 per capita taxes. The loss is $1,090 to the school district.

Reasons for exonerations were widow, partial blindness, no income, residence in another political subdivision, deceased, unable to pay and unable to work. In other business the board voted to pay bills totaling $712.64 and transfer the balance in all accounts to the interim operating committee on July 1, 1964.

Corps Office
Rejects State
Flood Aid

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Brig. Gen. John C. Dalrymple, division engineer of the North Atlantic Corps of Army Engineers, does not concur with a Philadelphia district engineers' recommendation that Pennsylvania be reimbursed for flood control work in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area.

The district engineer's recommendation to reimburse Pennsylvania $1,788,000 for flood work completed in the Stroudsburg area was reported yesterday.

The $1,788,000 represents the actual money spent by the state to construct the flood protection on Broadheads, McMichaels, and Little Sambo Creeks.

The report is being referred for review to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, D. C.

Interested parties may present written views on the report to the board.

Safety Meet
Attended
By DeNike

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Howard R. DeNike, associate professor of East Stroudsburg State College attended the ninth biennial president's conference on occupational safety in Washington, D. C. June 23, 24 and 25. President Lyndon B. Johnson opened the three-day sessions which brought together leaders from all segments of the economy from all parts of the nation. The leaders considered ways to reduce the toll of occupational accidents.

"Mobilizing Leadership For A Safety Break-through" was the conference theme. This conference recognized the fact that the nation's job safety efforts have reached an apparent plateau.

Likewise, overall accident rates have remained close to the present level in recent years. In three full-sessions and 13 workshop seminar sessions, the participants tried to devise new techniques and new applications of tested procedures. This action will help start accident rates again on their long-time downward trend in work categories.

President Johnson restated his continuing interest in the problem, and new insights into its various phases from scientists and other leaders of business, labor and education.

W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor, was general chairman of this conference. Reed O. Hunt, chairman of the board of the Crown-Zellerbach Corp., was its executive director. More than 100 volunteer leaders of business, labor, government, and other fields were engaged in the planning and organization of the many sessions.

There were some 3,500 invited delegates in attendance at the conference. Also, Mrs. DeNike accompanied Prof. DeNike on this trip to the Nation's Capital.

4 Youths Sent To County Jail

STROUDSBURG — Four area youths were committed to Monroe County Jail Monday on charges of unlawful entry.

The charges stem from the alleged entry into the summer cabin of Russell Kresge at Saylorsburg on Sunday, June 28.

Donald Geitz, 19, of Stroudsburg, RD 5; Marvin Frable, 19, of 504 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, and LeRoy Swartzwood, 20, of Easton and Melvin Hamm, 19, of 243 N Broad St., East Banzor were apprehended by State Police of Stroudsburg.

The youths were arraigned Monday before Mrs. Ruth Miller, Stroud Twp. Justice of the Peace. They waived a hearing and were jailed in default of $500 bail to await the next term of court.

The language of the ancient Incas is more widely used than in their heyday four centuries ago. Quechua is the only language spoken by millions of present-day inhabitants of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador. There are about 28 dialects.

Just Between Us —

My mind was on anything but fashions over the weekend — and most particularly not on fall fashions with nice wool tweeds and fur-lined suits and such — but with preliminary showings in New York that's where my body was.

That's where about 150 other fashion editors were, too, and this was one time when being from Stroudsburg was the cue that had everybody asking about our explosion.

I think it was the snakes that riveted their attention, and then the idea that it could have happened in one of their down-town streets or crowded suburbs instead of comparatively open countryside.

And another thing they were discussing was politics. While many of the fashion editors are also jack of all trades at home, there are some who do nothing but fashions, and it always comes as somewhat of a shock to the rest of us, that the rest of the world is just sort of a backdrop to fashions.

Which is why the political discussion centering around Gold-water came as such a surprise. Evidently there are few neutrals on the subject. And speaking of neutrals, the current feud between the American Designers and the N.Y. Couture Group is shaping up pretty sharply, too, with stories of white-gloved powder room battles being bandied about.

All of which can well wait until the series begins next week. As of now, the most appropriate fashion I can think of is a wet bathing suit and a pail of cool water for dangling the feet in. But it's not very professional.

Home from Hospital — Portland — Eugene Flannely who was a patient at Mercy Hospital, Scranton for several weeks has returned to his home on Division St.

Ever since our Wyckoff-Hadassah Fashion Show, I have been answering questions about the hair piece I wore. I mentioned this on the air, but apparently not all the women who are interested heard me, so here's the story again: my hair piece is not actually hair, but dnyel, and comes from the sizeable collection of similar pieces in varied lengths sold in our Millinery Department at 5.00. Because my hair was originally ash blond, then a darker brown with splatters of gray, it was impossible to find a perfect match in stock. Therefore, I selected a moonbeam blonde which is almost colorless, took it to Kay Shay, my hairdresser, and she experimented with it. We discovered it will take a rinse, but not a dye. After several rinses, it had acquired the color we desired, and it was comparatively easy for Kay to shade it, so that it blended with the many hues in my changing locks. Betty Winkelmann tells me the interest in these "hair" pieces has been terrific, with teen agers as well as "middle agers" coming in to see and buy.

Speaking of hair, the newest fashion whim (or rather, fashion revival) is to beautify one's coiffure with a big, beautiful bow. A celebrity who has added impetus to this new trend is Patrice Munsel, who has been photographed wearing an enormous organza bow perched upon her dark, piled-high locks. Well, we have bows for sale in three of our Wyckoff departments, so if we haven't exactly what you are looking for in one place, visit them all and don't despair. In our first floor Millinery Department we have handsome ones of starched net or horsehair—double bows, actually, with a tiny velvet streamer at the center. These are very popular for wedding attendants as well as wedding guests. We have them also in velvet, grosgrain, and other ribbons and fabrics in three prices: 1.29, 1.49, and 1.98. In our notions department, we save velvet bows in a variety of colors, 89¢... and in Accessories, right inside our main entrance, we show bows of organdy, pique, chiffon, and other fabrics at 1.00.

In other words, bows are easy to find at Wyckoff's... and we're of the opinion that every girl should have one. First, because they're glamorous... then, because a bow is a beau catcher!

If things are getting in your hair these days and driving you wild... things like dust and wind when you're motoring or sunning at the beach... better buy a net. We have nets in all styles too, and some of them are as enticing as can be. There are the standard types, of course, such as women have been wearing for years; the coarse nylon in black or brown to wear (preferably to bed) over a fresh hairdo; the natural hair net, almost invisible, that many older women would never dream of going without; that same natural hair, now decorated with tiny colored beads; and the very sheer colored nets gathered into bonnets with grosgrain ribbon ties, to wear with evening attire or dressy afternoon frocks, while traveling to and from important events.

Prettiest of all, I think, are the colorful nylons in a "chicken wire mesh" that are scarflike in shape, and may be twisted around the head in countless ways with ends flying free. These are 1.00 in our Accessories department, and have been selling like mad this summer, I'm told.

But back again to weddings! Girls who are almost in tears because of the high cost of headgear for bridal attendants, should see some of the cute flower petal chiffon hats we have, with clusters of pearls at the crown, under a filmy veiling. Cute as can be... dainty, colorful, and as bridal as the wedding ring on a satin pillow... but just 3.98.

Pennsylvania Dutch Cakes Include One For Lazy Wife

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist
Stroudsburg — The Pennsylvania Dutch people are a friendly people. This Spring when I was in Lancaster County I stopped at the Hex Barn in Intercourse, Pa. As I was walking around their gift shop I picked up four miniature Dutch cookbooks and as I paid for them the girl asked me if I liked to cook.

With a laugh, I told her I not only liked to cook but that I wrote a food column and was always on the lookout for recipes that might interest my readers. She asked me if I would like a few true Pennsylvania Dutch recipes that were favorites of hers, and of course, I told her I would be most happy to have them.

Mrs. Joyce Coleman took my name and address and last week I received a nice note from her with the following recipes. She noted that after reading them, I would be assured that they have a "sweet tooth" down Lancaster way!

I must confess that since this is my busy time of the year, I don't have time to do any baking, so haven't had the chance to try them. But they look so good—and different—that I thought I would offer them to you, too, for any of them would make a nice picnic cake for the weekend.

The first one is similar to a crumb pie, but it's a cake! Notice that it's made in a loaf pan; it's also called Shoo-Fly Cake.

Joyce's Molasses Crumb Cake

¾ cup oil or 1 scant cup shortening

1 cup sugar

3 cups unsifted flour

Cut shortening and sugar in to flour to make crumbs; reserve 1 cup of the crumbs for topping.

Add 1 teaspoon soda to remaining crumbs for cake

(be sure not to add soda to boiling water).

Mix in:
1 cup molasses (Gold Label on jar)
1 cup boiling water (add gradually)

When thoroughly mixed, pour batter into a greased loaf pan, 9 x 13", and sprinkle the one cup of crumbs on top. Bake in a 350 oven for 40 minutes. If you use a glass loaf pan, reduce temperature to 325.

If you don't want to make the next cake during the summer, be sure to file it for the December holidays—time flies, you know! As it's baked in a ring pan, it can be decorated with nuts and cherries at Holiday time.

Pennsylvania Dutch Cranberry Cake

Cream together:

¾ cup shortening

¾ cup sugar

Add 1 unbeaten egg and beat

Add 1 teaspoon vanilla

1 can jellied cranberry sauce

Beat until blended. Then add:

2 cups flour

¾ teaspoon cinnamon

1 ½ teaspoon salt

2 teaspoons baking soda

¾ teaspoon cloves

Mix together and put batter in a ring pan (or loaf) and bake at 350 for 50 to 60 minutes. Add nuts and cherries for a Holiday cake.

This next recipe intrigues me for cocoa is added to the flour and there is vinegar also added!

Although Mrs. Coleman didn't tell me what size cake pan she uses, I would suggest using a picnic size cake pan for with three cups of flour, I think it makes too much for a loaf pan.

I can't believe there are any lazy wives in the Pennsylvania

Dutch country, but that's what she calls the cake!

Lazy Wife Cake

Sift together:

3 cups flour

5 tablespoons cocoa

2 cups sugar

2 teaspoons baking soda

1 teaspoon salt

Mix all together and put three holes in dry mixture:

1st hole: Add ¾ cup and 3

tablespoons salad oil

2nd hole: Add 2 tablespoons vinegar

3rd hole: Add 1 tablespoon vanilla

Pour 2 cups of cold water over the entire mixture, mix slightly with a fork, then mix with a beater for one minute.

Bake in a 350 oven for 35 to 40 minutes.

Kellow-Litwinski Wedding Held in Bethlehem Church

Bethlehem — Our Lord's Ascension Church, Bethlehem was the scene June 27 of the wedding of Miss Eugenia Litwinski to Walter John Kellow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kellow Sr., of 16 W. Applegate Ave., Pen Argyl.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Litwinski of 1418 E. Fifth St., Bethlehem.

Given in marriage by her brother, Rudolph J. Litwinski, the bride wore a traditional formal gown of white pure silk linen which she had designed and was created by Maria of Easton. The Empress bodice featured a scoop neck. The floor-length train framed the sheath skirt and was decorated with hand-made roses of matching material.

A floral wreath of baby's breath, stephanotis and miniature white roses, held her shoulder-length veil. She carried a French bouquet made up of flowers matching those in the head wreath.

Mrs. Louis G. Czechowski of Bethlehem was matron of honor. Her gown, also designed by the bride was a cocktail-length gown of white pique fashioned on lines matching the bridal gown, but without a train. She carried a bouquet of pink carnation and stephanotis and wore a wreath of the same arrangement.

Mrs. William S. Morman of Nazareth, and Miss Gail Litwinski, of Allentown, were identical gowns of white pique and carried flowers matching those carried by the matron of honor.

Alfred Dally of 129 E. Pennsylvania Ave., Pen Argyl, acted as best man. Ushers were Fred L. Ashton of Easton and George R. Haddad of Allentown.

Mrs. Frank Mala of Bethlehem presented nuptial music for the ceremony. Mrs. Elmore Reiss of Easton gave an organ recital prior to the ceremony.

A reception was held at Walp's Restaurant, Allentown prior to the couple's leaving for a wedding trip to Ocean City, N.J. They will make their home at Thomas Michael Apartments, 38 Kingwood St., Easton, on their return.

Mrs. Kellow is a graduate of St. Luke's Hospital, School of Nursing. She holds a BS in art education from Moore Institute of Art, Philadelphia, and a masters in fine arts from Stella Elkins Tyler School of Fine Arts, Temple University. She is currently employed art specialist in Nazareth Area Elementary School.

Mr. Kellow is a graduate of Lafayette College with an AB degree in Chemistry. He has done graduate work at Penn State University, Temple University and Southern Methodist University. ## Lopez Bypasses Sluggers In Picks

AL Goes For Puff Hitters

BOSTON (AP)—The American League bypassed sluggers in favor of high-average singles hitters Tuesday as it completed the squad that will seek to protect its razor-thin edge over the Nationals in the 35th All-Star Game. Overlooked in rounding out the 17-man team, not including pitchers—were such masters of the long ball as Cleveland's Leon Wagner, Dick Stuart of Boston, John Powell of Baltimore and Kansas City's Ruckey Colavito.

Joe Cronin, league president, announced the nine selections of Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, with name his eight pitching choices Wednesday night, eight starters were announced last week.

The AL goes just the game July 7 at New York's Shea Stadium holding a 17-16 series edge. Since 1959 the Americans have won two and the Nationals six, with one tie.

"Slugging wasn't overlooked, of course, with Minnesota's formidable twosome of Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison, and New York's Mickey Mantle in the lineup.

"Lindy's arm is sound but he isn't getting the same breaks this year as he did last season," says Cub head coach Bob Kennedy.

63's Star Relief Hurler Loses Victorious Touch

CHICAGO (AP)—Right-hander Lindy McDaniel of the Chicago Cubs had the best relief record in the majors last year but is really struggling on the mound so far this season.

In 1963—his first season with the Cubs after coming from the St. Louis Cardinals—he had a 13-7 record with 21 saves. After Sunday, Lindy was 1-4 with seven saves and a hefty 4.50 earned run average.

A year ago at this time he was 4-2 with 10 saves and a 3.30 ERA.

"Maybe I'm being specialized too much," he says. "I think if I had a few more breathers with a chance to work a few innings relaxed I could get straightened out. It seems that every time I come in, a game is at stake."

Lindy says his main trouble is loss of rhythm at times, when his curve ball breaks into the dirt and his fast ball fails to move in on right-handers.

"Lindy's arm is sound but he isn't getting the same breaks this year as he did last season," says Cub head coach Bob Kennedy.

Cubs' Jackson Hurls 1-Hitter

CHICAGO (AP)—Larry Jackson's bid for a perfect game was spoiled by Pete Rose's lead-off single in the seventh inning Tuesday as the Chicago Cubs' right-hander pitched a 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Rose was the only Cincinnati player to reach base as the 33-year-old Jackson, after pitching six perfect innings, rebuffed the last nine batters following the hit.

Jackson fanned five and permitted only five hits to be hit to the outfield as he recorded his 10th victory against five defeats.

Rose, leading off the seventh, singled cleanly to center on Jackson's second pitch and his 54th of the game.

Joey Jay also turned in a masterly job, holding the Cubs to two hits in six innings, and at one stretch retired 14 in a row.

The Cubs got their run off him in the sixth when Dick Bertell walked, was sacrificed to second by Jackson, and scored on Jimmy Stewart's single.

Cincinnati 000 000 000—1 2 0
Chicago 000 001 000—1 2 0

Jay and Edwards, Jackson and Bertell, W-Jackson 10-5, L-Jay 4-4.

Like the National League manager, Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Lopez followed the voting of the players, managers and coaches in adding all second choices to his squad. Beyond that he named Yankee first baseman Joe Pepitone.

But the emphasis definitely is on the batting average as shown by the fact the top nine hitters are on the squad.

Detroit's Al Kaline and Bill Freehan along with Washington outfielder Chuck Hinton are the latest selections in the batting elite. They join Allison and rookie Tony Oliva of the Twins, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, Jim Fregosi of Los Angeles and Mantle and Elston Howard of the Yankees.

Orioles' Streak Snapped

BALTIMORE (AP)—Minnesota's Twins abandoned the long ball for some key singles Tuesday and snapped Baltimore's winning string at seven games 3-1 behind the strong pitching of Gerry Arrigo.

Arrigo, fresh from a one-hitter against Chicago, allowed only five hits and struck out seven before he wilted in the brutal 86-degree heat and was relieved by Al Worthington in the eighth.

Minnesota, probably the most feared long-ball club in the majors, got its runs on some wildness by Baltimore starter Steve Barber and singles by Bob Allison and Jimmie Hall.

The Orioles got their only run on a sixth inning double by Boog Powell, an infield out and Brooks Robinson's infield single.

Minnesota 102 000 000—3 5 0

Arrigo, Worthington (8) and Barber, Barber, Starrette (8) and Orsino, W-Arrigo 6-1, L-Barber 4-5.

Ronson LL Victors

STROUDSBURG — Ronson jumped to a 6-4 lead in the second inning and went on to defeat First Stroudsburg National Bank 9-6 in a Stroudsburg Little League game last night.

Baylor's two home runs, good for four RBIs, led the Lighters to victory.

PROUD FATHER—Orville McGraw, Scott St. Stroudsburg, holds some of the trophies won by his son, Jim, a New Jersey school teacher and winner of the recent Presidents Cup Invitational Water Ski Tournament on the Potomac River near Washington, D. C. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

McGraw Grabs President's Cup

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Jim McGraw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville McGraw of Scott St. Stroudsburg, took the President's Cup Invitational Water Ski Tournament on the Potomac River below the Capital last weekend.

McGraw, a New Jersey school teacher, placed first in tricks, second in slalom and wrapped up first overall by winning the jumping event from a field of 70.

The present world record is 3850 points. McGraw scored 3586 in winning. Only two other water skiers have ever compiled more points. Joe Cash and Al Tyle. The three will meet head on at the National Water Ski Tournament at Webster, Mass., in mid-August.

With a masters rating in trick skiing, and an expert in slalom, McGraw has won wide acclaim while skiing on his bare feet.

Last year, he won the men's trick event at Reading, Pa., at the Mid-Eastern Championships.

McGraw is married, and his wife, an accomplished water-skier herself, handles the boat for him. Even their five-year-old son skis with his parents at the M and M Water Ski School, Shawnee-on-Delaware.

Billie Jean Moffitt Gains Net Semis

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean Moffitt pulled her erratic game together at a vital point Tuesday, scored a smashing triumph on the famed center court and bolted into the semifinals of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

The Long Beach, Calif. girl, whose play had been spotty and unimpressive through the first eight days of the tourney, stormed over her old Wightman Cup foe, England's Ann Haydon Jones, 6-3, 6-3 and joined Chuck McKinley as the only surviving Americans in these All-England championships.

Brodhead Reunion Attracts Many On 300th Anniversary

KINGSTON, N.Y. — Brodheads by the dozens gathered at the Hotel Governor Clinton, Kingston, recently to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the coming of the family to the United States.

The founder of the clan, Capt. Daniel Brodhead, came from Yorkshire, England, in 1664 to take New Amsterdam from the Dutch. He was sent by King Charles I to "conquer and conciliate" the Dutch. He began by marrying a Dutch girl.

Brodheads from Monroe County at the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Brodhead of Stroudsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brodhead of Crossdale of Delaware Water Gap, and Eugene Brodhead of Philadelphia, formerly of Water Gap.

Descendants of the original Brodheads were the first settlers of Monroe County, and once owned all the land from what is now the Penn-Stroud Hotel nearly to the Water Gap.

Modern day descendants visited many Brodhead homes and historic sites while in Kingston. They were also greeted by the mayor of Kingston.

Articles On Display

In conjunction with the program at Kingston the Monroe County Historical Society has on display, in its headquarters at Ninth and Main Streets, many articles related to the Brodhead family in Monroe County.

One of the most important items is a waistcoat that is more than 300 years old.

The coat came to America from England when Daniel Brodhead came to this country. This Brodhead, who was born in Yorkshire, England, and died July 4, 1667 in Ulster County, N.Y., is the founder of the family in this country.

The coat is made of black satin with gold embroidery around the neck, down the front and on the pocket flaps. It is very fragile, but one can see that it was made for a very big man, both in stature and in social standing.

The Brodhead responsible for bringing the name into Monroe County 227 years ago is also Daniel, but this one is a third generation in America Brodhead.

In addition to the waistcoat there is displayed a Satin Cape worn by Mrs. Rebecca Mifflin Brodhead, second wife of Gen. Daniel Brodhead. It dates about 1780. Cups and saucers, engravings of the family, abstracts from early Brodhead wills and deeds, and many other interesting things are also on display.

The Historical Society is open each Tuesday from 1 to 4 p.m.

In South Courtland St. Redevelopment Project

Owners Offered Prices For Property

EAST STRODSBURG — The 12 property owners in the 4.5-acre S. Courtland St. redevelopment project were notified Monday of the prices offered for their land by the Redevelopment Authority of Monroe County.

King Beers, executive director of the authority, and Alton (Bucky) Jones, property and relocation manager, told property owners that if the offering price is accepted, payments from the federal government should be made by the middle of July to the first of August.

Beers said, "We expect final S. Courtland St. project approval some time this week."

He said relocation of those living in the project area will not be required until the purchase price is approved by both the federal government and the owner. Seventeen families, three individuals and two businesses are in the project area.

Beers also said: "The time allowed for relocation will be reasonable. The Redevelopment Authority will not force people to leave until they have found suitable housing."

"We will pay up to $200 for moving expenses."

The authority is working on a tight schedule.

With final federal approval of the project expected this week, federal money available for payments by mid July at the earliest, and 12 property owners to negotiate with, it appears difficult for the project to meet its Aug. 1 deadline for demolition and a start on construction of the new Acme Supermarket and Post Office.

Letter To Owners

A letter presented to the property owners said:

"As you are aware, your property is encompassed in the S. Courtland Street Urban Renewal Area."

"Subject to the federal government final approval of this project, the Redevelopment Authority of the County of Monroe is presently in a position to offer you the sum of $— for your property . . . which said offer is based upon two acquisition appraisals."

"It is anticipated that around the middle of July, 1964, the Federal Government will give final approval of this project at which time the Redevelopment Authority anticipates having the money to pay for this property."

"In the event you are satisfied to accept the sum of $— for your property, please do not make any final relocation plans until this money has been paid to you as this price and acquisition of the property is contingent upon government approval."

Property Owners

Property owners are: Frank Lanterman, 4,250 square feet; Willough Corp., William Hughes, 3,900 square feet; Sol. Lewis, Mae and Sadie Silverman, parcels of 3,570 square feet, 8,568 square feet,

Cy Barrett Says

Experience Counts

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.
DEAR CY:

When I landed this summer job, my friends said, "You are sure lucky." I am not so sure, as this company doesn't give me enough to do. I'm supposed to deliver the mail from office to office and keep the stock-room in order.

A retired post office employee usually does this but is on vacation. The work takes me only about three hours a day and, the other five hours, I twiddle my thumbs. Inactivity is getting to me and the only consolation is I am being paid money. Maybe I should play politics, finding out who the real bosses are, and getting them to give me assignments. What do you think, Cy?

AL

DEAR AL:

A summer job is for money, but the experience gained commands a higher value on the job board of life. By switching your thoughts from achievement to money, you are doing what comes naturally to every disgruntled employee. Don't let it happen! Instead of scheming at company politics, you should be playing the game down the center, keeping your self busy.

Company politics is the first thing you will pick up in business-for-real, anyway. Take it for granted that executives and other employees are going to be too busy to keep your eye on the ball. Keep your eyes wide and ears swiveling in a dedicated search for opportuni-

Esperanto League Works For One World Language

By Richard Spong

(Editorial Research Report)
Washington — The Esperanto League for North America holds its five-day annual meeting in New York City beginning on Wednesday, (July 1).

The Children of Zamenhof probably never will retrieve the heritage lost by the children of Noah who presumptuously built the Tower of Babel and incurred the wrath of Jehovah, but the dream of a universal language is still attractively alive.

The faithful will gather at the annual meeting of the Esperanto League for North America. The League makes no large claims. It reports a membership of "only a little more than 500," although more than 2000 persons are known as American Esperantists, or persons with a capability in the language.

The Bible tells that the descendants of Noah all had one language. As they prospered they said let us build us a city—a Babel in Babylon — and a tower "whose top may reach unto heaven."

And this so disturbed the Lord that he "scattered them abroad" and "did there confound the language of all the earth." (Genesis XI, 1-9).

Since the Dawn of history conquest and commerce have made Greek, Latin, and Arabic virtually universal languages. French was until the decline of France's sway in the world the language of diplomacy.

English was the language of commerce, and is increasingly becoming internationalized. National pride, however, has prevented the acceptance and retention of these universals.

Some 200 individualists have seen the logic of a universal tongue, however.

By far the most influential of "constructed" languages is Esperanto, as initiated by Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, a Polish physician, in his first work, Dr. Hopeful's international language. Introduction and Complete Textbook for Russian, published on July 17, 1887.

The scholarship on Dr. Zamenhof is curiously vague. In its official publications the Esperanto League of North America identifies him both as Ludwig L. and Lewis Lazarus. An Esperantist Catholic priest names him Louis. The Columbia and Britannica encyclopedias play it safe with L.L.

Esperanto is claimed to be international, easy for all, neutral, euphonious, phonetic, flexible, logical, regular, adaptable, and proven.

It is maintained that the grammar can be grasped in half an hour, that every rule is without exception, and that the spelling is easy because phonetic.

The literature is considerable. Esperanto magazines are published throughout the globe.

Art Display At Barrett Library

MOUNTAINHOME — During this week samples of art produced by Mrs. Charles Cook of Grange Road, Mount Pocono, will be displayed in the Barrett Library.

Local artists, working in oils, water colors and pastels will display various canvasses and works in the library in an effort to add another dimension to the services offered by the second public library in the county.

For the past two weeks, water colors and pastels were displayed in the library. In coming weeks, Clarence Dreisbach and Edna Palmer Englehardt, Barrett Township artists, will present various canvasses for display.

Dreisbach will show landscapes and still life subjects as will Mrs. Englehardt. The two have agreed to present painting demonstrations for the public with proceeds from the sale of the demonstration canvases to be donated to the library.

According to Mrs. John Roberts, librarian, the Wednesday night hours, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. have been well received. Summer hours are Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The facility is closed Mondays.

St. Joan Production 'Worthwhile'

By Pat Williams
 Daily Record Correspondent
CANADENSIS—The appearance of the Bishop's Company at Canadensis Methodist Church Saturday night was hailed as "worthwhile and thought provoking" by the audience.

Miss Joyce Merck, in the title-role of St. Joan, was convincing and believable. In her closing lines, "When will this world be ready to receive Thy saints? Oh, Lord, how long, how long?" The audience sensed futility and worry.

The play throws light on the practice of modern Christians who emphasize petty concerns and lack insight into the overall importance of life.

During the prologue, King Charles, portrayed by M. P. Harbach, presented his lackadaisical side and drew laughter from the audience. The King, afraid of making enemies, is not sure that Joan is right and makes several humorous but pointed remarks.

Tom Devan, in the role of St. Joan's friend and companion at arms gives excellent support for the part during the entire play.

Determination — Mrs. Merck earned the production with the fire of her performance and ability to sustain the determination of St. Joan throughout the play.

Following the production, more than 200 people adjourned to the social rooms where refreshments were served by the members of the Wesleyan service guild. The table was decorated with rose-hedge candles in silver candlesticks. Flanking a floral arrangement of roses and white in a silver bowl.

According to Mrs. Wilkinson, treasurer, a sum of $2,200 was realized from the production and gifts from the area, which will be used to defray expenses for the renovation of the sanctuary organ.

Underwrites for the production were Miss Maria Slaim, Miss Maria Schneider, Miss J. J. Spangenberg and Miss Leslie Geer.

Mrs. C. B. Weiss, chairman of the project, thanked those who worked with her, including Edward Bollhorn, who handled tickets which covered production costs, and Mrs. Reeve Price, who arranged accommodations for the company.

Patrons and sponsors were engaged by Dwight Shaw, William Bowes and Rev. Vernon Murray. Mrs. Edward Bollhorn did typing for the programs.

Reckless Driving Charged

WIND GAP — Charges of reckless driving have been lodged against two Wind Gap motorists involved in separate automobile accidents over the weekend near Bangor.

Charged were Raymond L. Lemley Jr. of 233 E. Third St., who suffered cuts of the face, and Chester G. Kessler Jr. of 52 W. 2nd St., who reportedly was not hurt.

Washington Twp. police reported the Lemley vehicle struck a pole while traveling north on Rt. 191 between Ackermanville and Bangor. The car had to be towed away.

Lemley was treated at the office of Dr. J. Earl Brackbill of Bangor, after being given first aid by the Liberty Co. ambulance. Morris Stucker of Washington Twp. police investigated.

Kessler, traveling west on the Bangor-Pen Argyl Rd., apparently lost control of his car and the vehicle ran in the yard of Joseph Reagle of Bangor, RD. There were no injuries or car damage reported.

Lemley grows wild along roadsides of Allepo, Syria's largest city. The dried roots of the perennial plant are processed into extracts for the black candy sticks and for industrial uses.
